The UN Buildings complex in Bangkok is the 3rd largest complex owned by the United Nations. The UN Building houses the offices of ESCAP, UNDP, UNEP, UNCDP, UNFPA, UNAIDS, UNIFEM, UNHCR, ILO and UNIS. It also includes the UN Conference Centre, one of the largest convention facilities in Asia.

Below you will find a brief summary of the main services available at the United Nations Building.

The

United Nations Conference Centre (UNCC) is located on Rajdamnern Nok Avenue and Klong Phadung Krungkasem Road, Bangkok, Thailand. The UNCC occupies approximately 18,600 square metres of land and is in close proximity to many government offices. UNCC is one of the three UN buildings and has 3 storeys. Combining advanced building technology with the UN's unrivalled experience of international meetings, the UNCC is unmatched in Asia.

Convention planners can be confident of finding everything to suit their individual needs, while delegates will appreciate the total ease of a purpose-designed venue.

Planning your trip

Tour Suggestions

Bangkok is the usual gateway for most travellers, and you should plan on three or five days in the capital. This should allow sufficient time for seeing the major sights such as the Grand Palace and Temple of the Emerald Buddha, Wat Arun, Wat Pho and Vimanmek Mansion. Perhaps also a trip along the Chao Phraya River or a shopping jaunt to Chatuchak Weekend Market.

You might also take an out-of-town excursion (Ayutthaya or Kanchanaburi are top choices). Check out some of the suggestions listed under our Bangkok section.

If a beach vacation is your priority, Bangkok could be followed by a week at Phuket or Samui Island, which offer the most exotic settings. Should your time be limited, the resorts of Pattaya, Rayong, Cha-am and Hua

3. To promote Thailand to be Mine free country.

Summary

National

- Our National challenge is daunting.
Thailand is Mine/UXO Affected (27 Provinces), with 2560 sq km of contaminated land. Based on the National Survey our early estimates have been dwarfed by the size of the mine problem.
- Our current national resources cannot meet our needs.
Thailand needs technical assistance to further develop our humanitarian program and meet the landmine challenge facing Thailand.

Regional

- Thailand is ready to cooperate and seeks to be a strong regional partner.
Thailand needs assistance to enhance regional cooperation, information sharing and technical assistance amongst our neighbors creating stability and security.

Internationally

- Thailand cannot handle the landmine issue alone or in isolation.
TMAC is very grateful for the International assistance provided and hopes for continued friendship supporting our program.
