Mid-Term Review of the Status of Victim Assistance in the Context of the AP Mine Ban Convention and the Nairobi Action Plan in the 24 Relevant States Parties

21 November 2007

Introduction:

The First Review Conference of the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction (AP Mine Ban Convention), also known as the Nairobi Summit on a Mine-Free World, from 29 November to 3 December 2004, reminded the international community that "[t]he very purpose of the Convention is to put an end to the suffering and casualties caused by antipersonnel mines."<sup>1</sup> At the First Review Conference, 24 States Parties<sup>2</sup> indicated that they had ultimate responsibility for significant numbers of mine survivors: Afghanistan, Albania, Angola, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Burundi, Cambodia, Chad, Colombia, Croatia, Democratic Republic of the Congo, El Salvador, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Guinea Bissau, Mozambique, Nicaragua, Peru, Senegal, Serbia, Sudan, Tajikistan, Thailand, Uganda, and Yemen. The Final Report of the First Review Conference stated that these States Parties have "the greatest responsibility to act, but also the greatest needs and expectations for assistance" in providing adequate services for their care, rehabilitation and reintegration.<sup>3</sup> As a result, these States Parties have become "a more focused challenge" for States Parties in the period up to the Second Review Conference in 2009.<sup>4</sup>

The First Review Conference provided an opportunity to further raise awareness on the rights and needs of mine victims, and to identify the key challenges to be addressed to fulfill the promise to mine survivors that the Convention implied. A set of understandings were formally agreed to by the States Parties. These understandings included clarity regarding what was meant by a landmine victim, with landmine victims understood to be "those who either individually or collectively have suffered physical or psychological injury, economic loss or substantial impairment of their fundamental rights through acts or omissions related to mine utilization."<sup>5</sup> That is, a broad approach to what is considered a landmine victim was accepted that includes the individual, their family, and their community, but with a clear understanding that the majority of attention must be focused on providing assistance to those individuals directly impacted by mines.<sup>6</sup>

This issue called victim assistance was also clarified, with the States Parties agreeing that it included work in the following six thematic areas:

- Understanding the extent of the challenges faced (data collection);
- Emergency and continuing medical care;
- Physical rehabilitation, including physiotherapy, prosthetics and assistive devices;

- Psychological support and social reintegration;
- Economic reintegration; and,
- The establishment, enforcement and implementation of relevant laws and public policies.<sup>7</sup>

States Parties adopted a clear understanding of principles to guide their victim assistance efforts. Four statements are particularly important:

• victim assistance "does not require the development of new fields or disciplines but rather calls for ensuring that existing health care and social service systems, rehabilitation programmes and legislative and policy frameworks are adequate to meet the needs of all citizens – including landmine victims;"

• "....the call to assist landmine victims should not lead to victim assistance efforts being undertaken in such a manner as to exclude any person injured or disabled in another manner;"

• "assistance to landmine victims should be viewed as a part of a country's overall public health and social services systems and human rights frameworks;" and,

• "....providing adequate assistance to landmine survivors must be seen in a broader context of development and underdevelopment...."<sup>8</sup>

States Parties also adopted the ambitious Nairobi Action Plan 2005-2009. With respect to victim assistance, the Nairobi Action Plan aims to "enhance the care, rehabilitation and reintegration efforts" through eleven specific action points. The Nairobi Action Plan contains the commitments, particularly on the part of those States Parties with the greatest numbers of survivors, to do their utmost to:

- develop or enhance national mine victim data collection capacities;
- establish and enhance health care services needed to respond to the immediate and ongoing medical needs of mine victims;
- increase national physical rehabilitation capacities;
- develop capacities to meet the psychological and social support needs of mine victims;
- actively support the socio-economic reintegration of mine victims;
- ensure that national legal and policy frameworks effectively address the needs and fundamental human rights of mine victims; and,
- ensure that in all victim assistance efforts, emphasis is given to age and gender considerations.

In addition, the Nairobi Action Plan contains the commitment of those in a position to do so to provide assistance to States Parties with clearly demonstrated needs, and, the agreement that all States Parties will monitor and promote progress in achieving the victim assistance goals and ensure the effective participation of mine victims in the work of the Convention.<sup>9</sup>

The Nairobi Action Plan provided a framework on which to act during the period 2005 to 2009; however, States Parties still lacked a clear appreciation of what should or could be achieved. Nevertheless, it was clear that the ultimate responsibility to improve the quality of life of mine survivors and other people with disabilities lay with the affected State.

In 2005, the Standing Committee on Victim Assistance and Socio-Economic Reintegration, under the leadership of Nicaragua and Norway, increased its efforts to support concrete progress in meeting the needs of landmine victims before the Second Review Conference in 2009. In early 2005, the Co-Chairs developed a questionnaire, in consultation with key stakeholders, including Landmine Survivors Network, the International Committee of the Red Cross and the International Campaign to Ban Landmines. This questionnaire was inspired by the Strategic Framework for Planning Integrated Victim Assistance Programmes, which was developed by Switzerland in 1999, and was based on the Guidelines for the Socio-economic Reintegration of Landmine Survivors, which was produced by the World Rehabilitation Fund and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in 2003.

The main aim of this questionnaire was to encourage the 24 States Parties in question to establish socalled SMART objectives:

- Specific objectives which should specify what these States Parties want to achieve.
- Measurable objectives which would enable all to know whether objectives had been met.
- Achievable objectives that are truly attainable.
- Realistic objectives which could indeed be achieved with resources at the disposal of the State Party in question or with resources that could realistically be acquired externally.
- Time-bound objectives which would be achieved by the time of the Second Review Conference.

The questionnaire was also intended to assist the 24 relevant States Parties in articulating plans to achieve their objectives, and, the resources available or needed to implement these plans.

The questionnaire called for responses to four key questions:

- What is the situation in 2005 in each of the six main thematic areas of victim assistance?
- What does the state wish the situation to be in each of the six thematic areas by 2009?
- What are the plans to achieve these objectives in each of the six thematic areas by 2009?; and,
- What means are available or required to implement these plans?

The Co-Chairs sent the questionnaire to the 24 relevant States Parties in March 2005 with the aim that these States Parties would produce objectives that were specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound, or SMART, before the November 2005 Sixth Meeting of the States Parties (6MSP) in Zagreb, Croatia. Two regional workshops were organized by the Co-Chairs to allow the relevant States to share experiences and develop their answers to the questionnaire; in the Americas (Managua, Nicaragua, 26-27 April 2005), and in Africa (Nairobi, Kenya, 31 May-2 June 2005).<sup>10</sup> The Co-Chairs also pursued a number of country-specific assistance strategies and provided a forum for States Parties to present their initial responses to the questionnaire at the June 2005 meeting of the Standing Committee. In addition, a number of States Parties were assisted by the United Nations and by the Implementation Support Unit of the GICHD in preparing responses to the questionnaire.

In December 2005, the Zagreb Progress Report presented to the 6MSP, contained a lengthy annex which summarized the responses made by 22 of the 24 relevant States Parties.<sup>11</sup> Consequently, there was a much more solid basis for developing a clearer road map regarding what needed to be done between 2005 and the Second Review Conference and how success pertaining to victim assistance will be measured in 2009. However, the Zagreb Progress Report acknowledged that the questionnaire "is not an end-product but rather an initial step in a long-term planning and implementation process."<sup>12</sup>

The aim of the Co-Chairs in 2005 was to ensure the successful implementation of the Convention and to facilitate concrete progress in achieving the aims of the Nairobi Action Plan and as a consequence achieve measurable progress in addressing the rights and needs of landmine victims before the Second Review Conference in 2009. Subsequent Co-Chairs, Afghanistan and Switzerland in 2006 and Austria and Sudan in 2007, have sought to continue the work started by Nicaragua and Norway. The logic of the efforts undertaken since the First Review Conference by all Co-Chairs of the Standing Committee on Victim Assistance and Socio-Economic Reintegration was and is based on the following:

&lt;sup>12</sup> Achieving the Aims of the Nairobi Action Plan: The Zagreb Progress Report, (Part II of the Final Report of the Sixth Meeting of the States Parties to the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction, APLC/MSP.6/2005/5, 5 April 2006), paragraph 72

- As the ultimate responsibility of meeting the needs of landmine survivors within a particular state rests with that state, no external actor can define for it what can or should be achieved by when and how in meeting the needs of these survivors.
- Others may have the ability to assist in understanding challenges, developing and monitoring the efficacy and implementation of plans. However, real and sustainable progress rests with sovereign states articulating in their own voices their challenges and plans to overcome them.
- Moreover, what can or should be achieved by when and how will be different for each of these 24 States Parties, given their unique characteristics.<sup>13</sup>

While the efforts undertaken by several of the relevant States Parties since 2005 have been impressive, the quality of the responses continues to be mixed. Few States Parties have actually responded with objectives that are specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound, that is SMART. Some States Parties detailed at length their status but very little was put forward in terms of what the desired status would be in 2009. Other States Parties failed to spell out what is known or not known about their status. Some States Parties did not engage in the effort at all. Another challenge relates to the conclusion drawn at the First Review Conference that "assistance to landmine victims should be viewed as a part of a country's overall public health and social services systems and human rights frameworks." In many instances the preparation of victim assistance objectives do not take broader national plans into consideration.

Since 2005, all Co-Chairs of the Standing Committee on Victim Assistance and Socio-Economic Reintegration have recognized that the best way to assure progress in overcoming these challenges is to work intensively, on a national basis. With assistance from the Implementation Support Unit (ISU), a victim assistance specialist has been recruited with funding provided by Switzerland in 2006, and Australia, Austria, Norway and Switzerland in 2007.

The ISU assists the Co-Chairs to achieve their aim of ensuring the successful implementation of the Convention in relation to victim assistance by providing some level of support to all 24 relevant States Parties in the form of advice each may wish to consider in improving on their efforts to establish SMART objectives and a national plan. In addition, at the request of relevant States Parties, the ISU provides process support to advance the State's inter-ministerial efforts to establish better objectives and develop and implement good plans. Process support involves country visits during which one-on-one meetings with officials from relevant ministries take place to raise awareness of the victim assistance issue and to stimulate inter-ministerial coordination. Outreach to relevant international and other organizations also takes place to ensure that their efforts in support of the State Party in question are not being duplicated but rather are both incorporated into and incorporate mine victim assistance efforts. Mine survivors are also consulted. In some countries inter-ministerial workshops bring together all relevant actors to discuss and consolidate improvements on objectives and the development and implementation of plans.

The expected outcome of this activity is an improved capacity in the targeted States Parties to move forward in the process of setting their own specific objectives and plans of action with a tangible improvement in institutional frameworks to address disability issues and in services available to mine survivors and other persons with disabilities.

This document provides an overview of the known status of progress in the development of SMART victim assistance objectives and national plans since the First Review Conference of the AP Mine Ban Convention in the context of the Victim Assistance questionnaire, up to the 8MSP in November 2007. It contains information provided by 22 of the 24 relevant States Parties themselves, particularly in advance of the Sixth Meeting of the States Parties in November 2005 in response to the Victim

Information contained in subsequent updates on progress in the development of SMARTer objectives and national plans provided by the States Parties is also included.

Summary of Progress since the First Review Conference in 2004:<sup>14</sup>

- Since 2005, process support visits have been undertaken by the ISU on behalf of the Co-Chairs of the Standing Committee on Victim Assistance and Socio-Economic Reintegration to 19 of the 24 relevant States Parties: Afghanistan, Angola, Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Cambodia, Colombia, Croatia, El Salvador, Ethiopia, Guinea-Bissau, Mozambique, Nicaragua, Peru, Serbia, Sudan, Tajikistan, Thailand, Uganda, and Yemen.
- In response to Action #39 of the Nairobi Action Plan which called on States Parties to ensure an effective contribution in all relevant deliberations by health, rehabilitation and social services professionals, at the May 2006 standing committee meetings, 9 of 21<sup>15</sup> relevant States Parties (43 percent) participating in the meeting included a victim assistance expert in their delegation, increasing to 17 of 23<sup>16</sup> relevant States Parties (74 percent) participating in the April 2007 meetings.
- At the April 2007, standing committee meetings, the Co-Chairs of the Standing Committee on Victim Assistance and Socio-Economic Reintegration organized an ambitious parallel programme. This programme increased the knowledge of the expert participants on victim assistance in the context of the Convention, emphasized the place of victim assistance in the broader contexts of disability, health care, social services, and development, reaffirmed the importance of key principles adopted by the States Parties in 2004, and reaffirmed key challenges.
- At the 7MSP in September 2006, 17 of 23<sup>17</sup> relevant States Parties (74 percent) participating in the meeting included a victim assistance expert in their delegation. On 19-20 September 2006, all 23 States Parties made an intervention during the session "Assisting the victims" at the 7MSP, the majority of which outlined their progress in efforts to meet the aims of the Nairobi Action Plan in relation to victim assistance.
- At the 8MSP in November 2007, 17 of 23<sup>18</sup> relevant States Parties (74 percent) participating in the meeting included a victim assistance expert in their delegation. On 21 November 2007, 22 relevant States Parties made an intervention or provided a written statement during the session on "Assisting the victims."
- In 2006 and 2007, workshops or seminars to discuss victim assistance in the context of the AP Mine Ban Convention and/or to develop a plan of action to meet the aims of the Nairobi Action Plan were convened in at least 10 relevant States Parties: Afghanistan, Angola, Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Cambodia, El Salvador, Ethiopia, Sudan, Tajikistan, and Uganda.
- Since the 6MSP in November 2005, at least 11 relevant States Parties have revised their objectives to be more specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound – SMARTer: Afghanistan, Albania, Angola, Croatia, Democratic Republic of the Congo, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Serbia, Sudan, Tajikistan, and Uganda.
- Since the 6MSP, at least 11 relevant States Parties have developed, or have initiated an interministerial process to develop and/or implement, a comprehensive plan of action to meet their objectives: Afghanistan, Angola, Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Cambodia, Democratic Republic of the Congo, El Salvador, Sudan, Tajikistan, Thailand, and Uganda.

- Since the 6MSP, at least six relevant States Parties report progress in the achievement of objectives: Afghanistan, Albania, Serbia, Sudan, Tajikistan, and Yemen.
- Since the 7MSP, at least two relevant States Parties has reviewed its progress in implementing its plan of action and have developed, or are in the process of developing, revised objectives and plan of action: Afghanistan and Albania.
- Since the First Review Conference, efforts have been made to strengthen the normative framework that protects and ensures respect for the rights of persons with disabilities including landmine survivors through the participation by many States and interested organizations in the drafting of an international convention on the rights of persons with disabilities. On 13 December 2006, the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) was adopted. The CRPD opened for signature on 30 March 2007, thus strengthening the normative framework that protects and ensures respect for the rights of persons with disabilities including landmine survivors. The CRPD has the potential to promote a more systematic and sustainable approach to victim assistance in the context of the AP Mine Ban Convention by bringing "victim assistance" into the broader context of policy and planning for persons with disabilities more generally. As of 17 November 2007, 87 of the 117 State signatories to the CRPD are States Parties to the AP Mine Ban Convention, including 14 of the 24 States Parties reporting responsibility for significant numbers of landmine survivors: Burundi, Cambodia, Colombia, Croatia, El Salvador, Ethiopia, Mozambique, Nicaragua, Peru, Senegal, Sudan, Thailand, Uganda, and Yemen. The Optional Protocol, which provides individuals the right to complain before an international body should redress not be found at the national level, has been signed by 66 States, including 7 of the 24 relevant States Parties: Burundi, Cambodia, Croatia, Peru, Senegal, Uganda, and Yemen. Seven States have ratified the Convention, including Croatia.
- The Convention's Documentation Centre now includes a quantity of victim assistance-related resources.

Lessons learnt in efforts to achieve the aims of the Nairobi Action Plan:

- If a meaningful difference is going to be made in enhancing the well-being and guaranteeing the rights of landmine victims, victim assistance must no longer be seen as an abstraction but rather as a concrete set of actions for which specific States Parties hold ultimate responsibility.
- If progress in victim assistance is going to be made, progress must be defined as something that is specific and measurable, with specific measures logically needing to be determined by individual States Parties based on their very diverse circumstances. These specific and measurable indicators of progress should be time-bound, particularly to take into account that an unambiguous assessment of success or failure will be expected at the Second Review Conference in 2009.
- Success in victim assistance also means understanding victim assistance in the broader contexts of development and seeing its place as a part of existing State responsibilities in the areas of health care, social services, rehabilitation, vocational training and human rights.
- Because victim assistance should be undertaken in the context of existing domains and not in the context of a relatively new field of endeavour called variously "humanitarian demining" or "mine action", officials and experts from relevant ministries must be engaged in developing specific, measurable and time-bound responses to the needs of victims. That is, an inter-ministerial process is essential.

- In fulfilling their responsibilities to landmine survivors, States Parties should be guided by the principles of non-discrimination, inclusion, equality of opportunity, and accessibility, and should ensure all efforts consider the age and gender of the victims, the development of national and local capacities, the delivery and accessibility of a comprehensive range of services, and the involvement of all concerned actors and stakeholders.
- A great deal has been invested into process support in some States Parties over the past three years. Progress has been slow but the potential exists to build on past investments in order to achieve success.

Issues of concern and on-going challenges that hinder progress:

While important advances have been made since the First Review Conference in 2004, challenges remain which require the priority attention of the States Parties in the period leading to the Second Review Conference in 2009:

- Low priority is given to disability issues within the relevant ministries in some States Parties.
- Disability is still seen as a charity issue not a human rights issue in some States Parties.
- In some States Parties, a holistic approach to assisting mine survivors and other persons with disabilities has not been adopted.
- In some States Parties, there is a lack of capacity to address disability issues at all levels including within the governmental and non governmental sectors.
- States Parties need to ensure efficient and effective use of resources, particularly where capacity and resources to develop and implement objectives and national plans are limited. Better collaboration between mine action centres and relevant ministries and other key actors in the disability sector is essential.
- The Zagreb Progress Report acknowledged that the Victim Assistance questionnaire was "not an end-product but rather an initial step in a long-term planning and implementation process;" however, few of the relevant 24 States Parties have undertaken the more complex task of developing a national plan of action to achieve their SMART objectives by the Second Review Conference in 2009.
- States Parties and relevant organizations should do more to ensure that landmine survivors are effectively involved in the development of national plans and contribute to all deliberations that affect them.
- States Parties should continue to strengthen the involvement in the work of the Convention by health care, rehabilitation and disability rights experts.
- Given the large number of relevant States Parties which continue to indicate a need for external resources in order to fulfil their victim assistance obligations, States Parties in a position to do so should continue to act upon their obligations under Article 6 of the Convention.
- States are sometimes slow or reluctant to internalize the care, rehabilitation and reintegration of survivors as their responsibility. An overdependence on NGOs and other international agencies to provide services can result in States perceiving victim assistance as being something to be addressed by outsiders leading to a disproportionate focus on donor responsibility rather than state responsibility.

AFGHANISTAN

- Afghanistan's Second National Victim Assistance Workshop in October 2007 reviewed progress and identified challenges in achieving its 2006 objectives. As a result of the workshop, objectives are in the process of being revised and the plan will be amended to achieve these revised objectives.

THAILAND

- Thailand adopted its Master Plan for Mine Victim Assistance 2007-2011 in February 2007. Implementation of the plan is ongoing. The Master Plan takes into account Thailand's extensive institutional and legal frameworks to address disability issues and assigns responsibility for implementation to relevant ministries. A revised response to the 2005 Victim Assistance questionnaire is in the process of being translated.
