1. WHAT IS THE AP MINE BAN CONVENTION?

> What is the AP Mine Ban Convention?

This is a short reference to the 1997 Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction, also known as the Ottawa Convention.

The Convention is the international community's comprehensive response to the humanitarian problems caused by anti-personnel mines, weapons that are indiscriminate and that last for decades after conflicts have ended.

The Convention was adopted in Oslo on 18 September 1997 and opened for signature in Ottawa on 3 and 4 December 1997 at a ceremony that featured the participation of dozens of world leaders.

For their determination in calling for the Convention, the International Campaign to Ban Landmines and its coordinator Jody Williams were awarded the 1997 Nobel Peace Prize.

The Convention entered into force on 1 March 1999.

The Convention's first five-year review, the Nairobi Summit on a Mine-Free World, was held in the Kenyan capital from 29 November to 3 December 2004. At that event, the Nairobi Action Plan 2005-2009 was adopted at a high political level.

> What is the purpose of the Convention?

The purpose is "to put an end to the suffering and casualties caused by anti-personnel (AP) mines" through the pursuit of four core aims:

- > universal acceptance of a ban on AP mines
- > destruction of stockpiled AP mines
- > clearance of mined areas
- > providing assistance to mine victims.

> How many countries have joined?

156 States have ratified or have acceded to the Convention. They include:

- > most of the States that at one time used, stockpiled, produced or transferred AP mines
- > the vast majority of States that are or have been affected by AP mines
- > every State in the Americas, except Cuba and the United States
- > every State in sub-Saharan Africa, except Somalia
- > every Member State of the European Union, except Finland and Poland

1. WHAT IS THE AP MINE BAN CONVENTION?

> What has been the impact of the Convention?

Use of anti-personnel mines has decreased dramatically – 156 countries have agreed to not use AP mines by ratifying or acceding to the Convention. Most States not parties adhere to the Convention’s norms.

Production has decreased significantly – 34 of the 50 States that previously manufactured AP mines are now bound by the Convention’s ban on production. Most States not parties have place moratoria on production and / or transfers of mines.

Destruction of stockpiled mines is one of the Convention’s great success stories – over 42.3 million mines have been destroyed by the States Parties. 152 States Parties now no longer hold stocks.

Demining has resulted in millions of square metres of once dangerous land released for normal human activity. 13 of 53 States Parties that originally reported mined areas have completed the task of clearing all such areas. Annual casualty rates have fallen in many countries.

Survivors’ needs are being taken seriously. The Convention is the first arms control / disarmament convention that takes their needs into account. Most of the 26 States Parties responsible for significant numbers of survivors have developed objectives and a plan of action to meet the needs and guarantee the rights of landmine survivors and other persons with disabilities.

2. WHAT IS THE CARTAGENA SUMMIT ON A MINE-FREE WORLD?

- > The Cartagena Summit is the name that has been given to the Second Review Conference of the 1997 Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction.
- > The Cartagena Summit is a formal diplomatic meeting with the main purpose being to review the past five years of efforts to pursue a world free of anti-personnel mines, to assess remaining challenges and to commit to actions to overcome these challenges.
- > A special focus will be placed on addressing the needs and guaranteeing the rights of the women, men, girls and boys who have fallen victim to mines.
- > Over 1,000 delegates representing over 100 States and dozens of international and non-governmental organisations will discuss a comprehensive Review of the Operation and Status of the Convention, 2005-2009. This report documents progress made between the first Summit on a Mine-Free World in Nairobi in 2004 and the 2009 Cartagena Summit on a Mine-Free World.
- > At the Cartagena Summit, it is expected that the international community, at a high political level, will adopt the Cartagena Action Plan to guide implementation efforts between 2010 and 2014. In addition, these high level representatives will adopt and sign the Cartagena Declaration, reaffirming their commitment to ending the suffering caused by anti-personnel mines and to achieving a world free of mines.

3. WHAT WILL HAPPEN AT THE CARTAGENA SUMMIT?

- > The Cartagena Summit will begin with a day-long set of events in and around Cartagena on 29 November that will highlight the theme of ability. These events, which are being staged by Colombia and by a number of non-governmental organisations, include:
 - > a 5 kilometre road race open to runners, walkers, wheelchair users and those using crutches or other assistive devices
 - > an opportunity for conference delegates to go diving with landmine survivors from Colombia as part of a unique rehabilitation programme
 - > a field visit to a nearby hospital to discuss the role of the institutions in the process of rehabilitation of landmine survivors
- > On Sunday 29 November, the opening ceremony of the Cartagena Summit will be presided over by Colombian Vice President Francisco Santos.
- > The work of the Cartagena Summit begins the morning of 30 November when the President of the 9MSP, Ambassador Jürg Streuli of Switzerland, will preside over the election of Ambassador Susan Eckey of Norway as the Summit's President.
- > From 30 November to 2 December, the Cartagena Summit will feature thematic discussions in the context of the review of the operation and status of the Convention. These thematic discussions will begin with victim assistance and cooperation and assistance, followed by universalisation, stockpile destruction and mine clearance and other matters essential for achieving the Convention's aims.
- > It is intended that by the end of the day on 2 December the conference would agree to recommend for adoption the final documents.
- > On 3 and 4 December, a high level segment will take place at which heads of State/government, ministers and other VIPs will address the Summit. Each high level participant will then have the opportunity to sign a ceremonial copy of the Cartagena Declaration.
- > Up to six thematic side events will take place each day from 13:00 to 15:00 at the site of the Summit. In addition, several evening events will take place with many of these open to both delegates and residents of Cartagena.

4. WHAT WILL BE DECIDED AT THE CARTAGENA SUMMIT?

The States Parties will consider for adoption the following documents:

- > Review of the Operation and Status of the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction: 2005-2009
- > Cartagena Action Plan 2010-2014: Ending the Suffering Caused by Anti-Personnel Mines
- > A Shared Commitment for a Mine-Free World: the 2009 Cartagena Declaration

The States Parties will consider taking decisions on the following matters:

- > requests submitted by Argentina, Cambodia, Tajikistan and Uganda for extensions of deadlines for completing the destruction of anti-personnel mines in mined areas in accordance with Article 5 of the Convention
- > the proposal that the meetings of the Standing Committees in 2010 take place the week of 21-25 June in Geneva
- > the proposal that the Tenth Meeting of the States Parties in 2010 takes place the week of 29 November to 3 December in Geneva
- > the election of States Parties to serve as the Co-Chairs and Co-Rapporteurs of the Standing Committees until the end of the Tenth Meeting of the States Parties

5. HOW CAN DELEGATIONS PREPARE FOR THE CARTAGENA SUMMIT?

Thematic discussions

- > The conference will immediately begin work on the morning of Monday 30 November and proceed until the end of the third day with discussions on the basis of draft documents submitted in advance of the Review Conference.
- > Addresses to the conference and general statements are discouraged at the beginning of the conference and during the first three days of it.
- > Most of the first three days of the conference will be dedicated to thematic discussions in the context of the review of the operation and status of the Convention.
- > Thematic discussions will begin with victim assistance and cooperation and assistance, highlighting the importance that States Parties have placed on these matters. There will also be thematic discussions on the other core aims of the Convention – universalisation, stockpile destruction and mine clearance – as well as on other matters essential for achieving the Convention’s aims.
- > The purpose of the thematic sessions is to share views and experiences as concerns these topics and to remark on relevant portions of the review and action plan. As time is short, the nature of these discussions would be different from how they are handled at Meetings of the States Parties (MSPs).
- > Delegations are invited to share their views and experiences (4 minutes maximum) regarding (a) what accomplishments have been made since the 2004 First Review Conference, (b) what main challenges remain, and (c) what is needed beyond the Second Review Conference to overcome these challenges.
- > Delegations may remark on relevant portions of the Review and the Action Plan with a particular invitation to delegations to indicate how, on a national basis, they intend to apply the Action Plan during the period 2010 to 2014.

Article 5 extension requests

- > During the afternoon session on Monday 30 November, Argentina, Cambodia, Tajikistan and Uganda will present requests submitted for extensions of deadlines for completing the destruction of anti-personnel mines in mined areas in accordance with Article 5 of the Convention. In addition, the 9MSP President will present the analysis of each of these requests.
- > Following the presentation of these requests, delegations will have a chance to informally consult one another prior to formal consideration, which will take place on Wednesday, December 2nd.
- > At the 9MSP, it was agreed that the 15 States Parties whose requests had been considered at that meeting would be asked to provide to the Second Review Conference updates relative to their accounting of mined areas and / or benchmarks for progress. Therefore, an opportunity for such updates will be provided.

5. HOW CAN DELEGATIONS PREPARE FOR THE CARTAGENA SUMMIT?

Provisional adoption of the final documents

- > It is the aim of the President of the Cartagena Summit that, at the end of the afternoon session on Wednesday 2 December, the conference would agree to recommend for adoption the final documents.

High level segment

- > A high level segment will take place on Thursday 3 December from 10:00 to 13:00 and from 16:00 to 19:00, continuing on Friday 4 December until the speakers' list has been exhausted.
- > A high level representative of each participant and observer delegation is invited to participate by delivering a statement that should not exceed six minutes in length.
- > In the establishment of a speakers' list, precedence will be given to States Parties represented at the level of Head of State or Government, Minister or State Secretary, delivering their statements prior to statements being delivered by high level representatives of observer delegations.
- > Immediately after each high level participant delivers her or his statement, she or he will be escorted to a nearby room to sign a ceremonial version of the Cartagena Declaration. She or he may bring into the signing room others who she or he wishes to witness this event. A photographer will record each ceremonial signing.
- > Participants at the level of Head of State or Government, Minister or State Secretary will be invited to a lunch on 3 December at 14:00 hosted by the President of Colombia, Dr. Alvaro Uribe Velez.
- > Participants at the level of State Secretary, Minister or higher will be invited to participate in a field visit hosted and organised by Colombia that will take place in the morning of December 4th.

Closing ceremony

- > The Cartagena Summit will conclude with a closing ceremony that will take place during the afternoon session on Friday 4 December.

7. BANNING USE, PRODUCTION AND TRANSFERS

What the Convention says

- > Each State Party undertakes never under any circumstances:
 - > to use anti-personnel mines;
 - > to develop, produce, otherwise acquire, stockpile, retain or transfer to anyone, directly or indirectly, anti-personnel mines;
 - > to assist, encourage or induce, in any way, anyone to engage in any activity prohibited to a State Party under this Convention.
- > The Articles of this Convention shall not be subject to reservations.

Progress made

- > The use of anti-personnel mines has decreased dramatically. The Convention's prohibition on the use of AP mines binds its 156 parties and this norm has enjoyed widespread acceptance by other States.
- > Production of anti-personnel mines is now rare. At one time more than 50 States produced anti-personnel mines. 34 of these States are now parties to the Convention, thereby having agreed to be bound by the Convention's prohibition of the production of anti-personnel mines.
- > By having joined the Convention, 156 of the world's States have accepted a legally-binding prohibition on transfers of anti-personnel mines. Even for most States not parties this has become the accepted norm, with many of these States having put in place moratoria or bans on transfers of the weapon.

Challenges that remain

- > Since the 2004 Nairobi Summit on a Mine-Free World, three States not parties to the Convention have made new use of AP mines.
- > 13 States not parties continue to retain the capacity to produce AP mines.
- > Universal acceptance of the Convention's norms is impeded by armed non-State actors that continue to use, stockpile, and produce AP mines.

8. DESTROYING STOCKPILED ANTI-PERSONNEL MINES

What the Convention says

- > Each State Party undertakes to destroy or ensure the destruction of all stockpiled anti-personnel mines it owns or possesses, or that are under its jurisdiction or control, as soon as possible but not later than four years after the entry into force of this Convention for that State Party.
- > States Parties may retain a number of anti-personnel mines for the development of and training in mine detection, mine clearance, or mine destruction techniques. This number shall not exceed the minimum number absolutely necessary for these purposes.

Progress made

- > 152 States Parties now no longer hold stockpiled anti-personnel mines.
- > Together the States Parties have destroyed more than 42.3 million stockpiled mines.

Challenges that remain

- > 4 States Parties are still in the process of destroying their stockpiled anti-personnel mines, including 3 that have missed their deadlines.
- > Combined, these 4 States Parties must destroy several million mines.
- > Destroying a particular type of mine – the Soviet-era “PFM-1” mine – is extremely hazardous and poses serious technical difficulties.

Each State Party must destroy or ensure the destruction of all anti-personnel mines in mined areas as soon as possible but not later than 10 years after entry into force of the Convention for a State Party. These 10 year deadlines are represented by dark blue bars in the table above. If a State Party believes it will be unable to destroy or ensure the destruction of all anti-personnel mines in mined areas within 10 years, it may request an extension. In 2008, 15 States Parties requested and were granted extensions. These extended deadlines are represented by the light blue bars in the table above.

9. CLEARING MINED AREAS

What the Convention says

- > Each State Party must make every effort to identify all areas under its jurisdiction or control in which anti-personnel mines are known or suspected to be emplaced.
- > Each State Party must ensure the effective exclusion of civilians from mined areas until all anti-personnel mines contained within have been destroyed.
- > Each State Party must destroy or ensure the destruction of all anti-personnel mines in mined areas as soon as possible but not later than 10 years after the entry into force of this Convention for that State Party.
- > If a State Party believes it is unable to destroy or ensure the destruction of all anti-personnel mines in mined areas within 10 years, it may request an extension.

Progress made

- > 53 States Parties have reported mined areas under their jurisdiction or control. Of these 13 have indicated that they have fulfilled their clearance obligations:

Albania	France	Malawi
Bulgaria	Guatemala	Suriname
Costa Rica	Honduras	Swaziland
Djibouti	Macedonia, the FYR of	Tunisia
		Zambia

- > Demining activities and risk reduction efforts have led to a reduction in the annual casualty rates in most countries.

Challenges that remain

- > 40 States Parties remain in the process of fulfilling their mine clearance obligations. Some will require a decade more to finish this task.
- > Fulfilling obligations as soon as possible for some will mean making use of the full range of technical and non-technical survey methods to release, with confidence, suspected hazardous areas. This will enable expensive and time-consuming demining work to be carried out where it is really needed.

What the Convention says and what the States Parties understand

- > Each State Party in a position to do so is obliged to provide assistance for the care and rehabilitation and social and economic reintegration of mine victims.
- > The States Parties have defined a “landmine victim” broadly to include individuals, families and communities – those who either individually or collectively have suffered physical or psychological injury, economic loss or substantial impairment of their fundamental rights through acts or omissions related to mine utilisation.
- > The States Parties understand “victim assistance” as a process that involves an age- and gender-sensitive, rights based, and holistic approach and which includes the following components: emergency and continuing medical care, physical rehabilitation, psychological support, and social and economic reintegration / inclusion.
- > The States Parties understand the place of victim assistance within the broader context of disability, healthcare, social services, rehabilitation, reintegration, employment, development, human rights and gender equality, recognising that their efforts should promote the development of services, infrastructure, and policies to address the rights and needs of all women, men, boys and girls with disabilities, regardless of the cause of the disability.

Progress made

- > For the first time a disarmament/arms control convention contains measures to assist the victims of the weapons in question.
- > The Convention has drawn attention to the plight of landmine survivors – and hence the challenges of all persons with disabilities – in some of the world’s poorest countries.
- > Efforts taken in the context of the Convention to enhance health care, rehabilitation and other services have benefited not only landmine survivors but also broader communities.
- > Specialised organisations such as the ICRC and Handicap International have generated over US$ 200 million since the 2004 Nairobi Summit on a Mine-Free World in support of emergency medical care, physical rehabilitation and other assistance.
- > There are 26 States Parties that have reported a responsibility for significant numbers of landmine survivors. Many of these have developed measureable victim assistance objectives and are implementing plans of action to meet the needs and guarantee the rights of landmine survivors and other persons with disabilities.
- > The Convention’s practices in responding to the needs of mine victims have served as the model for other instruments of international humanitarian law, including the 2008 Convention on Cluster Munitions.

10. ASSISTING THE VICTIMS

Challenges that remain

- > The 26 States Parties that are responsible for significant numbers of landmine survivors include some of poorest countries on earth. Achieving progress is complicated by the broader set of complex challenges that most developing countries face.
- > States Parties will need to continue to deepen their sense of responsibility to provide for the care and rehabilitation and social and economic reintegration of mine victims, particularly as the needs of victims will remain long after mined areas have been cleared.
- > While the most identifiable gains since the 2004 Nairobi Summit on a Mine-Free World have been process-related, there remains a significant challenge in translating increased understanding on victim assistance into tangible improvements and a sustainable difference in the daily lives of mine victims.

11. OTHER IMPORTANT MATTERS FOR ACHIEVING THE CONVENTION'S AIM

What the Convention says

- > Cooperation Each States Party has the right to seek and receive assistance. Each State Party in a position to do so is obliged to provided assistance.
- > Transparency Each State Party must provide an initial transparency report within 180 days of the Convention entering into force for it, and hence update this report annually.
- > Compliance The primary responsibility for ensuring compliance with the Convention rests with each individual State Party through the legal and other measures it is obliged to take to prevent and suppress prohibited acts.

Progress made

- > Cooperation Global funding levels for activities consistent with the aims of the Convention remain high with approximately US$ 2.0 billion having been generated since the 2004 Nairobi Summit on a Mine-Free World.
- > Transparency All but 2 of the States Parties with a requirement to submit an initial transparency report have done so.
- > Compliance There are now 59 States Parties that have reported that they have adopted legislation to prevent and suppress prohibited acts. In addition, 30 States Parties have indicated that they consider existing laws to be sufficient.

Challenges that remain

- > Cooperation A dilemma exists in that while a great deal of funding continues to be generated in general terms for “mine action”, this is not addressing the specific needs of some States Parties that are in the process of implementing the Convention.
- > Transparency The rate of compliance with the obligation to provide transparency reports stands at just under 60 percent in 2009. The rate has declined since the 2004 Nairobi Summit on a Mine-Free World.
- > Compliance There are 67 States Parties that have not yet indicated that they have legislation sufficient to prevent and suppress prohibited acts.

13:00 – 15:00 | Contracting in mine action

Hosted by the GICHD
Location: Comisión 2

A substantial amount of donor contributions to mine action is now spent on contracting commercial entities, NGOs and public sector operators to conduct demining and other mine action related activities. The difference between contracting in mine action and in other industries is that it is often harder to define the end product in terms of exact area, quality and the number of square metres. As there appears to be limited contracting experience within some sections of the mine action community, the GICHD has produced “A Guide to Contracting in Mine Action”. The Guide is intended to assist national directors and staff of mine action programmes understand the principles of good contracting processes and procedures and provide practical examples. This event will be the official launch of the Guide and will include a brief description of the main topics covered in it.

This workshop will attempt to gather stakeholders, including national authorities, donors and operators, to discuss how best to implement the new standards.

CONVENTION ON THE PROHIBITION OF THE USE, STOCKPILING, PRODUCTION AND TRANSFER OF ANTI-PERSONNEL MINES AND ON THEIR DESTRUCTION

Preamble

The States Parties,

Determined to put an end to the suffering and casualties caused by anti-personnel mines, that kill or maim hundreds of people every week, mostly innocent and defenceless civilians and especially children, obstruct economic development and reconstruction, inhibit the repatriation of refugees and internally displaced persons, and have other severe consequences for years after emplacement,

Believing it necessary to do their utmost to contribute in an efficient and coordinated manner to face the challenge of removing anti-personnel mines placed throughout the world, and to assure their destruction,

Wishing to do their utmost in providing assistance for the care and rehabilitation, including the social and economic reintegration of mine victims,

Recognizing that a total ban of anti-personnel mines would also be an important confidence-building measure,

Welcoming the adoption of the Protocol on Prohibitions or Restrictions on the Use of Mines, Booby-Traps and Other Devices, as amended on 3 May 1996, annexed to the Convention on Prohibitions or Restrictions on the Use of Certain Conventional Weapons Which May Be Deemed to Be Excessively Injurious or to Have Indiscriminate Effects, and calling for the early ratification of this Protocol by all States which have not yet done so,

Welcoming also United Nations General Assembly Resolution 51/45 S of 10 December 1996 urging all States to pursue vigorously an effective, legally-binding international agreement to ban the use, stockpiling, production and transfer of anti-personnel landmines,

Welcoming furthermore the measures taken over the past years, both unilaterally and multilaterally, aiming at prohibiting, restricting or suspending the use, stockpiling, production and transfer of anti-personnel mines,

Stressing the role of public conscience in furthering the principles of humanity as evidenced by the call for a total ban of anti-personnel mines and recognizing the efforts to that end undertaken by the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement, the International Campaign to Ban Landmines and numerous other non-governmental organizations around the world,

Recalling the Ottawa Declaration of 5 October 1996 and the Brussels Declaration of 27 June 1997 urging the international community to negotiate an international and legally binding agreement prohibiting the use, stockpiling, production and transfer of anti-personnel mines,

Emphasizing the desirability of attracting the adherence of all States to this Convention, and determined to work strenuously towards the promotion of its universalization in all relevant fora including, inter alia, the United Nations, the Conference on Disarmament, regional organizations, and groupings, and review conferences of the Convention on Prohibitions or Restrictions on the Use of Certain Conventional Weapons Which May Be Deemed to Be Excessively Injurious or to Have Indiscriminate Effects,

Basing themselves on the principle of international humanitarian law that the right of the parties to an armed conflict to choose methods or means of warfare is not unlimited, on the principle that prohibits the employment in armed conflicts of weapons, projectiles and materials and methods of warfare of a nature to cause superfluous injury or unnecessary suffering and on the principle that a distinction must be made between civilians and combatants,

Have agreed as follows:

Article 1 | General obligations

1. Each State Party undertakes never under any circumstances:
 - a. To use anti-personnel mines;
 - b. To develop, produce, otherwise acquire, stockpile, retain or transfer to anyone, directly or indirectly, anti-personnel mines;
 - c. To assist, encourage or induce, in any way, anyone to engage in any activity prohibited to a State Party under this Convention.
2. Each State Party undertakes to destroy or ensure the destruction of all anti-personnel mines in accordance with the provisions of this Convention.

Article 2 | Definitions

1. "Anti-personnel mine" means a mine designed to be exploded by the presence, proximity or contact of a person and that will incapacitate, injure or kill one or more persons. Mines designed to be detonated by the presence, proximity or contact of a vehicle as opposed to a person, that are equipped with anti-handling devices, are not considered anti-personnel mines as a result of being so equipped.
2. "Mine" means a munition designed to be placed under, on or near the ground or other surface area and to be exploded by the presence, proximity or contact of a person or a vehicle.

Action #5

Condemn and continue to discourage in every possible way any production, transfer and use of anti-personnel mines by any actor.

Action #6

Encourage States not Parties, particularly those that have professed support for the humanitarian objectives of the Convention, to participate in the work of the Convention.

II. DESTROYING STOCKPILED ANTI-PERSONNEL MINES

States Parties are resolved to ensure the expeditious and timely destruction of all stockpiled anti-personnel mines in accordance with Article 4, limit to the absolute minimum necessary the number of anti-personnel mines retained under Article 3, prevent further cases of non-compliance, and report as required by Article 7 and in line with the recommendations made by the Ninth Meeting of the States Parties. The States Parties that have been granted an extension to their initial Article 5 deadline will:

Action #13

Complete implementation of Article 5 as soon as possible but not later than their extended deadlines, ensure progress toward completion proceeds in accordance with the commitments made in their extension requests and the decisions taken on their requests, and report regularly on such progress to the meetings of the Standing Committee on Mine Clearance, Mine Risk Education and Mine Action Technologies, Meetings of the States Parties and Review Conferences.

States Parties that have reported mined areas under their jurisdiction or control, will do their utmost to:

Action #18

Provide access to all mined areas where access may be difficult or contested, including border areas, without prejudice to potential border delimitation, to ensure that clearance can proceed as soon as possible, making use of the good offices of Presidents of Meetings of the States Parties or Review Conferences or other third parties as appropriate.

Action #19

Provide mine risk reduction and education programmes, as part of broader risk assessment and reduction activities targeting the most at-risk populations, which are age-appropriate and gender-sensitive, coherent with applicable national and international standards, tailored to the needs of mine-affected communities and integrated into ongoing mine action activities, in particular data gathering, clearance and victim assistance as appropriate.

15. DRAFT CARTAGENA ACTION PLAN

Action #20
